

OSI NEWSLETTER #24

Upcoming Events

We plan a mental health professional networking event in March to consider some possible programs which your responses to our questionnaire, and other conversations, have brought into focus. Topics include how and whether we can set up continuing education credit programs using OSI facilities, setting up a facebook communications group for our mental health professionals, and setting up a searchable website, or 'portal', where our clients can enter their qualifications. This website could be accessed by other OSI clients and by members of the general public. We tentatively schedule this event for noon Wednesday March 23. Please mark it on your calendar. We look forward to your suggestions and attendance.

On March 30 we will have a lunch session with Daniel Mills, the Practice Management Advisor for the District of Columbia Bar. Dan proposes that current economic and technological developments offer opportunities for solo and small firm law practices, and will discuss what solo and small law firms can take advantage of these circumstances. Please RSVP manager@osioffices.com Bring a friend who also can profit from Dan's suggestions.

Accessing Our OSI attorney legal services

In OSI's 700+ clients are over 250 attorneys and over 400 firms and organizations in a very wide range of activities. We frequently get requests about legal services. You can access some of OSI's pool of attorneys by going to <http://attorneysupportsearch.com>. If you are an OSI attorney client, you can enter your data on this website by clicking on <http://osioffices.com/law.html>

Lockable Mailboxes

We have available lockable mailboxes for those who might prefer this option, for $5 per month. If you would like to have this service, please send an email to manager@osioffices.com, or advise one of our receptionists when you next communicate with them.

Full Time Offices Available

While two of the full time window offices we had available at 1629 K Street were promptly taken, we do have a small interior office available as of this writing. Attorney Andrea Ewart is interested in having a compatible attorney sharer for one such office.

A couple of our good clients at 1050 17th street are giving up their attractive window offices as of April to start an addictions counseling venture in Washington DC. These sell for $950/mo. And one larger window office will be coming available.

If you are interested in any of these office opportunities, give Wil, Joseph or Jack a call at 202 835 0680
